

The repeated asking, continued seeking is like a filter, to sift out the unworthy desires & motives, till the right & correct thing remains.

It is a refining process. — till we discover the real desires of our heart.