

X stands ~~at the~~ before every one & says,
"I can — if you can my believe"

We are never aware conscious of our unbelief when attempt to exercise our faith — He would have never known that he did not believe unless he had tried to believe =

"I can do nothing me say, "I don't believe — help my belief." I believe = That is my affirmation, my confession, I dive down the stake. — then & my then can doubt be dealt w/.

— it is my those who never believe that is not troubled w/ doubt. The totally lazy man doesn't worry about illnesses

— There will always be the presence of these two extremes

1- The desecration of unbelief

2- The desecration of unbelief should not makes us doubt the reality of the faith we have.

— The danger of creating ourselves off ourselves because we discover an imperfection his cry was a cry of faith = "Help" Even trembling faith has a right to ask.

Seems almost a contradiction — But most of life is a contradiction = The Civil war — Even to what amount,
The scars, the fall — never 100%

The Response of Jesus = said nothing, but answered His plea by action.

- an overanswerer (McLaren) - He does not lecture us into faith but blesses us into it.

- The abundance of His grace rebukes the poverty of our faith =

Per. testimony = when times were most difficult, faith weakest, His blessing the greatest

So throughout my life when I've said, "Lord, I believe" there ~~comes~~ follows that persistent echo of weakness, human frailty - "Help my unbelief" - Till that day we see His face to face & say "Lord, I believe" - period.
