Right Or Wrong

FROM:

Principles of Practice.

DATE

We have not arrived at the highest level of moral living if we simply accept, without thought or reflection, the customary as the final word for our lives. We are individuals who are personally responsible unto  $\theta$  (Rom. 14:12), we must decide for ourselves what is right & wrong for us to do. (Martin p. 6)

We must think thru to a defensible position.

This contributes to stability of character.

Bible must be guide = Paul persecuted Xians in good conscience.

---

Influence = edifying -

"We are responsible unto  $\theta$  for our influence. Our influence is counting for good or bad, to a lesser degree, on all we touch - we should remember that more people are influenced for  $\chi$  by the lives of Xians than by all the sermons preached, the songs sung, or the lessons taught. 4 - p 13

Stewardship of Body - 1 Cor 6:13, 15, 19

"There are some things or activities that are always right or wrong - absolutes -

There are broad areas of life covered largely by the relative; right & wrong are not inherent in the act itself, but they are dependent on the effect one's participation may have.
